

ABSTRACT

A method of efficiently coordinating the communication of data and commands between multiple entities in a system is disclosed. A transaction protocol enabling centralized scheduling of chains of data transfers in a system is disclosed.